

End of Term Progress Report

Student: Charlotte Mo
2019-2020 Academic Enrichment Program
Course: Primary Writing II

Center: Gubei
Semester: Fall
Instructor: Andrew

Program Summary

This Course, students will learn and practice various strategies to express themselves with poise, confidence, and eloquence in a supportive and inclusive environment. Classes are taught through lively and engaging exercises designed to inspire students in developing their personal speaking styles. In addition to technical strategies and conventions of speech, such as presentation skills, emotive reading, and improvisation, students will also explore a popular competitive speech form, impromptu speaking. By the completion of the intensive course, students will have crafted and delivered an effective speech on a global topic with their own stylistic twists.

Instructor Comments

Through this course, Charlotte demonstrated that she is both a brave and kind student: thoughtful of others and willing to challenge herself to be a better public speaker. In class, Charlotte was a diligent student when writing material for her speeches, and she was also a respectful classmate, especially when giving feedback for her speeches, and she was also a respectful classmate, especially when.

Through this course, Charlotte demonstrated that she is both a brave and kind student: thoughtful of others and willing to challenge herself to be a better public speaker. In class, Charlotte was a diligent student when writing material for her speeches, and she was also a respectful classmate, especially when giving feedback for her speeches, and she was also a respectful classmate, especially when.

Yours Sincerely,